“Defense, the force that unites – together into the future”: an immersive journey into the heart of the country's security

The Galleria Alberto Sordi, in the heart of Rome, transforms into an amphitheater of images, sounds, and interactive surfaces that guide the visitor into the work — often silent but constant — of the Italian Defense. The immersive exhibition “Defense, the force that unites – together into the future” is open free of charge every day from 09:00 to 21:00 until Monday, November 4, coinciding with the celebrations of National Unity and Armed Forces Day.

An enveloping journey

It is not a simple exhibition to observe: it is a story to walk through. Maxi-screens and “living” walls depict missions in Italy and abroad, real-time operational readiness, the means that guard land, sea, and sky, up to the new strategic domains: cyber, space, and artificial intelligence.

The journey brings together technologies, data, and — above all — human capital. The visitor discovers roles, procedures, and skills that support the country's security every day, from civil emergencies to operations beyond borders, with an accessible yet rigorous language.

A cross-sectional audience that reflects the meaning of the title: a Defense that does not divide, but unites.
