At the Beraudo di Pralormo barracks, the solemn ceremony took place on Friday, September 13, during which Colonel Roberto Forlani handed over command of the glorious Regiment "Savoia Cavalleria" (3rd) to Colonel Giandomenico Di Spirito. The event was held in conjunction with the celebrations for the historic battle of Isbuschenskij.

The ceremony, presided over by the Commander of the Paratroopers Brigade Folgore, Brigadier General Massimiliano Mongillo, saw the participation of the prefect of Grosseto, Paola Berardino.

Colonel Forlani concluded two years of intense command, during which the regiment's personnel were engaged in missions both in Italy and abroad. Forlani bid farewell to the regiment with words of deep affection, recalling the importance of the symbols that unite the men and women of "Savoia", such as the "black flames", the "red tie", and the "maroon beret".

Colonel Di Spirito, the new commander, comes from the Army Logistics Command and has a past rich in experiences at the Grosseto garrison, where he held staff and command positions, including leading the squadron group during Operation Miasit in Libya. Di Spirito officially assumed the role of the 107th commander of Savoia Cavalleria, honoring the tradition and historical legacy of the regiment.

We extend our best wishes to Colonel Di Spirito for the prestigious new assignment.
