

Forty New Engineers for the Battalion of the 8th Engineer Regiment of the Paratroopers Brigade “Folgore”

Published on 16/01/2025

In Legnago, at the headquarters of the 8th Engineer Regiment Paratroopers Sappers Folgore, the ceremony for the delivery of the unit's shoulder patch to 40 new paratrooper sappers took place. The prestigious symbol was awarded by the Regiment Commander, Colonel Daniele D'Ambrogio, marking the official entry of the newly assigned into the large family of sappers.

The new sappers, recruited among permanent service volunteers and four-year fixed-term

The 8th Regiment, a true emblem of excellence, combines the unique skills of the sappers with the high preparation of the paratroopers. This combination, built on the centrality of the individual, advanced training, technological innovation, and unit values, represents the engine that allows the unit to face and overcome the most challenging tasks.

The ceremony saw the participation of the banners of the main reference associations: the National Association of Italian Paratroopers (ANPDI) of Triveneto, the National Association of Engineers and Transmitters (ANGET), and the National Sappers Group (GNG). Their presence highlighted the strong bond between tradition, innovation, and unit spirit that animates the 8th Regiment.

This important moment marks the beginning of a new chapter for the newly assigned, ready to serve the Paratroopers Brigade Folgore and the country, in a role that combines courage, competence, and dedication. With the unit's shoulder patch on their chest, the new paratrooper sappers prepare to face future challenges, inspired by the history and values of one of the most prestigious units of the Italian Armed Forces.