

October 23, 2024, date set for the Paratroopers Specialty Celebration

Published on 27/09/2024

On the upcoming October 23, 2024, at the Parachuting Training Center \(CAPAR\) in Pisa, the celebration of the 82nd anniversary of the Battle of El Alamein will take place, along with the Paratroopers Specialty Celebration.

The event will be an opportunity to commemorate the valiant Paratroopers who fought in the historic battle and to celebrate the entire Paratroopers Specialty of the Italian Army. El Alamein remains a symbol of courage, sacrifice, and esprit de corps for Italian Paratroopers and represents, each year, a moment of deep reflection and pride for all those who belong to and feel close to the prestigious specialty of the airborne troops.

The choice of October 23, a weekday, was motivated by institutional commitments that did not allow for other dates for the celebration. The Army General Staff is aware of the logistical difficulties this choice might entail for participants, however, the importance of the event and the desire to give it the proper tribute led to favoring this specific date.

During the day, at the CAPAR, military authorities, veterans, members of paratrooper associations, and all people who wish to join in a moment of unity and remembrance of a heroic page in Italian military history will be present. Entry will be allowed from 9:30 AM.
