The local section of the Associazione Nazionale Paracadutisti d'Italia, based in the former Convent of Vertova, is named after Giuseppe Guarnieri, who fell on November 9, 1971, in the tragic sinking of the English C130 "GESSO 4" at the Secche della Meloria, the most serious peacetime tragedy in the history of Italian paratroopers.

«We are a very active section – explains the president Alberto Benzoni –. The Gandellino event is a tradition that allows people to get closer to our reality and experience the magic of jumps up close. This year, with Colonel Filippini, we will have a truly extraordinary guest».

The event is also a moment of remembrance for Olivo Dordi, a paratrooper saboteur from the upper Valle Seriana, who fell in 1967 during an exploration operation on the Austrian border in the Strage di Cima Vallona. Dordi was awarded the Silver Medal for Military Valor for his courage.

With a program that combines commemoration, spectacle, and passion for flying, the sixth edition of the Gandellino parachuting day is set to deliver unforgettable emotions.
